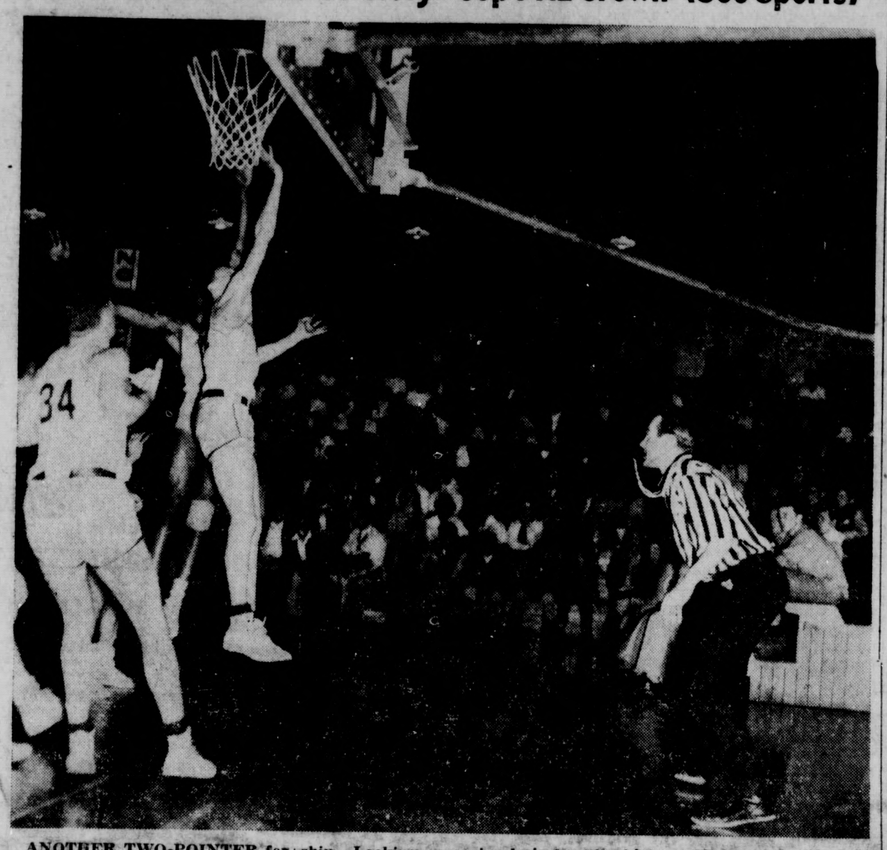
Jeffs Finish In Blaze Of Glory--Cop PAL Crown (See Sports)



ANOTHER TWO-POINTER for Jefferson center Wayne Lovelace is racked up against Lincoln high Tuesday night in the third game of playoffs for the PAL championship. Looking on anxiously is forward Don Delbon, No. 34. Lovelace accounted for 17 points with his deft lay-ins and hook shots, as the Jefferson team claimed the first basketball championship in its history with a 53-46 win over the Lions. The game played at the Stanford pavilion drew a crowd close to 3000.

County 'Uncooperative' In Ambulance Agreement

CITY-OWNED AMBULANCE NO LONGER AVAILABLE FOR COUNTY --- ANDERSEN

Because "the county has demonstrated a continued unwillingness to cooperate," the council Monday night decided to do away with the city-county ambulance agreement that was approved by the city last month.

The action was brought about after the county returned six unpaid bills for ambulance service rendered to the county by the city.

Dan Andersen, city administrator, said: "If that's the way they want to operate, it's all right with us. Our ambulance will no longer be available to the county."

In a letter enclosed with six unpaid bills, County Manager E. R. Stallings informed Dean Wood, local officer who handles emergency ambulance calls, that "the county will pay only those bills on calls where the ambulance is dispatched by the sheriff's office, and then only when the person is indigent and unable to pay."

In many cases, Wood said, victims would have died had the local ambulance waited to be dispatched by the county.

Andersen prepared a letter this week to be sent to Stallings informing him of this city's stand.

"The county has been unable to provide adequate service to this area. Accordingly, Daly City purchased its own ambulance. Since that time a number of lives have been saved through its being available on immediate notice in emergency cases," Andersen said.

Andersen added that the city-owned ambulance has performed many services to the county outside the city limits and has saved the county expense in this regard.

The ambulance will no longer be available on calls outside the city limits, he said.

The cost to Daly City of paying the entire load shouldn't run more than $75 a month, Andersen added.

He indicated that there would probably be some sort of charge levied for services in cases where patients were not indigent.

Bond Issue Needed To Build High School

Holding of a bond election will probably be necessary to secure sufficient funds for construction of the Jefferson Union high school district's new Skyline school, according to Sanford Hannah, superintendent of the district.

Hannah said there is approximately $1,150,000 available at present for future construction. But the district won't know how much of this will be available until after bids for work on the school cafeteria are submitted March 23, he pointed out.

The board of trustees conferred Monday night with Mario J. Ciampi, architect for the Skyline school, to work out schemes for site development on the 64 acre tract.

The school, to be located on Edgemar road east of Skyline boulevard, will take up only about half the acreage, the remainder to be used for future development, Hannah said.

At Monday's meeting the board

Gaggero Resigns As County Sanitation District President

"Due to pressure of other activities," Anthony Gaggero, mayor of Daly City, has resigned his position as president of the north county sanitation district.

The district's public hearing on the proposed half-million dollar primary-type sewage treatment plant to be located near Westlake, will continue Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. in the council chambers.

The hearing opened February 27 and no protests, oral or written, were made against the project. However, the hearing was not closed and will be resumed Monday, Kennedy said.

Blaze Is Second In Vicinity; Fire Dept. To Investigate

A fire of undertermined origin did an estimated $3000 damage to an upstairs apartment at 173 Templeton yesterday afternoon.

The fire, second to occur in that neighborhood in the past two days, apparently started in a bedroom closet, and for a short time threatened to destroy the home.

Mrs. James Goulden narrowly escaped serious burns when she attempted to quell the fire. She was at home with her aunt, Miss L. Grimshaw, when the blaze broke out.

Mrs. Goulden summoned her husband, who was at work. The couple's four young children were all outside at the time of the mishap.

The fire department was alerted at 1:45 p.m. by Mrs. Libera Farmar, who lives next door at 149 Templeton.

She reported hearing a roaring sound, and looked next door to see the windows in the Goulden residence cracking under the heat.

After phoning the fire department, she turned a hose on the blaze, but by then the flames had spread over the entire bedroom.

Just two days earlier, Tuesday, Mrs. Farmar summoned the department when she discovered a fire burning the wall of her house next to the Goulden residence.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy said an investigation would be conducted to determine the origin of both fires.

Goulden, when questioned by THE RECORD, had no comment.

The fire consumed all the bedroom furniture and caused serious heat and smoke damage to the remainder of the home.

The house is owned by Tom Palmer, 299 Templeton.

Mildred McGeein Files For Term On School Board

Mildred McGeein, Jefferson union high school district trustee unfiled Friday to run for another three-year term.

Her's is the only term expiring this year.

Applicants for the board position have until April 15 to declare their intention to run for office. The election will be held May 15.

Planners Set Date For Public Hearing

Application of Joseph Dolan to change property on School street from light commercial to multiple family dwellings will be discussed at a public hearing to be held March 16 in the council chambers.

At the same time the planning commission will take up fire zone 1 with the council in an effort to ease the tight fire restrictions now existing in that zone.

At Monday night's meeting the commission considered the application of John A. Jennings, 1235

Wants Committee Formed To Investigate Possibility Of Secession From S.M. County

Daly City, California
March 1, 1953

Editor
The Record
Daly City, California

Dear Sir:

Much has been said and written over the years about the unfair treatment accorded the north end of this county by the County Board of Supervisors. In the main the criticism has been that taxes are unfairly levied as regards to library, sewer and San Mateo Junior College and that the taxes imposed far outweigh the services rendered. As THE RECORD states it, "As far as receiving due consideration as part of San Mateo County, Daly City might as well be in Podunk, Neb."

Dissatisfaction with our county government appears to be rife. Press dispatches tell of annexation proposals involving Broadmoor and the Westlake district of Daly City as well as Bayshore City and Brisbane. Plans have been explored and the annexation laws examined. Legal minds have stated that under existing laws annexation with San Francisco County is virtually an impossibility.

But, so far, no one has come up with the proposal that the northern end of the county disassociate or secede and form a new county. We have a wealth of legal talent in Daly City from which a committee could be formed to investigate this possibility. Let us not kid ourselves. The votes are in the southern part of the county. As long as the balance of power rests there, the northern section, despite the most able representation of Thomas Callan, can expect little relief from the discriminations claimed.

Sincerely,
JOHN E. COLTHURST

Traffic Fines Bureau Bill Is Before Senate

A bill to allow the establishment of a traffic fines bureau in Daly City is pending before state legislature at its current session, THE RECORD learned this week.

The legislation, introduced at the initial session of the legislature, is an act to require municipal courts in the judicial district in San Mateo county to establish and maintain traffic fines bureaus in Daly City, Burlingame and San Bruno.

Labeled Senate Bill 1882, the act was introduced by Lieut. Governor Harry Parkman.

Daly City's council made a request January 12 that such legislation be introduced.

At present all traffic fines matters must be transacted in South San Francisco, where the municipal court is located.

Thomas L. Bocci, judge of the new muni court, had been sitting in Daly City one day a week to facilitate justice for local residents, but received notice from the board of supervisors that his action was contrary to state law.

Grave Diggers, Employers Reach Wage Agreement

Members of Cemetery Workers' Union, local 265 (AFL), some 200 of whom work in the Colma area, were at work this week under a new three-year contract which gives them an increase of 50 cents a day base pay, cemetery workers $500 life insurance, and health and welfare benefits.

The new contract averted a strike threatened for Monday, after weeks of negotiation had been stalemated.

The strike would have tied up eight major cemeteries in this area.

Union members voted to accept the contract provisions offered by the United Employers, Inc., representing the eight cemeteries, two cermatoriums and one mausoleum in the Colma area.

The new contract provides for $15 a day base pay. Cemetery workers had sought an increase of $1.50 a day over their base pay of $14.50.

THE TOWN RECORD

By MONTE DAYTON

Monday Daly City's feline population figured prominently in the news.

At 12:31 p.m. MRS. A. CARATTI, 600 Templeton avenue, phoned local police to complain of a dead cat on her lawn. Exactly nine minutes later MRS. SOL CAPPER, 54 Westbrook, called the station—another dead cat on a a lawn.

That same afternoon kitty, not quite so dead, created a minor catstrophe. This uncompromising cat perched lively on the doorstep of MRS. ALAN KURTZ, 9 Dorchester drive, and wouldn't leave, despite Mrs. Kurtz efforts with a broom.

The poor lady became riled, and feared to venture out of her house with the hostile animal waiting there, so she called the local police, who swept to her aid in a patrol car and saw that the cat removed itself from the premises.

H. Z. WEIBEL, Jefferson elementary school district superintendent, has been scratched from the sick list and is now back at his duties. He's only putting in half-a-day now until full recuperation sets in.

Out of action for some two months will be TILIO TIMOSSI, local car dealer, who underwent a lung operation last week in Stanford hospital.

The LIONS were a ltle worried last week when they looked over the high school entries for their youth art show. It seems LEONARD MULLEN, prolific art student, had turned in what seemed like dozens of exhibits, most of them good, too. Club members were afraid he'd walk away with the whole division, but as it was he emerged with only a first and a third, which isn't exactly bad.

Westlake Bookie Is Picked Up On Charge Of Passing Bad Check

Daniel P. McCarthy, 30-year-old San Francisco tavern owner who was charged with attempting to bribe a local officer after being held on a count of making book here January 29, was picked up Monday on a bad check count.

McCarthy, out of $5000 bail, was arrested in South San Francisco Monday on complaint filed by Howard Wilson of the Westlake Rental office, 375 South Mayfair drive.

Wilson said McCarthy had given him a check for $83.75 in payment for rent on his Westlake apartment at 21 Park Plaza, apt. 6—where three weeks earlier McCarthy and his partner, George Joseph Diez, 52, had been caught by local police allegedly in the act of dumping horse racing scratch sheets into an electric garbage disposal unit.

McCarthy had promised to make restitution on the fictitious check which was passed Saturday, Wilson said, but had failed to do so.

Inspector August Benassini took McCarthy into custody of the municipal court, where he was bound over to Superior court on the new charge.

McCarthy allegedly attempted to bribe Lieut. Roy Beecher of the local police force in January after he was picked up at the apartment in Westlake with Diez.

Beecher said McCarthy told him and Benassini, "Let's forget the whole thing and I'll give you a C note apiece."

Diez plead guilty to the bookmaking charge two weeks ago and was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

Art Show Acclaimed Success; Lions Plan To Hold Event Yearly

Nearly 1500 interested persons visited Daly City's community center last weekend to view the youth art show featuring entries from more than 1000 local elementary and high school students.

The event, first of its kind to be held in this area, was sponsored by the local Lions, who tentatively plan to make the contest an annual affair.

A total of 54 awards, consisting of cups, medals and ribbons were given to students whose entries were judged outstanding.

Enthusiasm High

Elio Fontana, Lion chairman for the event, said that enthusiasm ran high for the event and that many favorable comments had been made about the show.

Fontana extended his thanks to the many persons who aided in making the show possible and also those who attended.

Mrs. Joyce Tolle, art coordinator of the Jefferson elementary school district, who devoted a great deal of time to the project, pointed out that the exhibit "was arranged to show the child's growth and development from kindergarten through high school in terms of art projects.

Art Is Stimulus

"In the elementary schools the art program is very closely related to other subjects, frequently being used as a stimulus for social studies, language arts, arithmetic and spelling.

"In the upper grades and high school the art program becomes more specific, developing skills which will be used in everyday living. Frequently the student discovers an interest or ability that will become his occupation after graduation."

Winners were:

YOUR NEIGHBORS AND MINE

By Betty Brush

Hello Neighbors

Lent is with us again and this reporter would like to know if it would be possible to have an 8:30 Mass in the morning. Reverend Fathers, do you know how many mothers there are who would love to attend Mass every morning? The average housewife gets up around 6 a.m. and after getting the man of the house off to work, then gets an average of three children off to school by 8 a.m. This is in itself a day's work and they would welcome the chance to attend Mass. It is an awful rush to try and squeeze Mass in between getting father off and getting the children up.

Our Boys

An orchid to LYNNE BOSKEY, CLARA POKET and SHARON CASAD who are the mainstays of a group of women who go once a month to visit the boys at the Veterans hospitals. Right now they are going on the second Wednesday of the month to the Letterman hospital where they play bingo with the fellows.

They bring all their own prizes, which consist of razor blades, shaving soap, face soap, socks, candy, and numerous other items that a boy in the hospital can use. Anyone desirous of donating anything of use for prizes can drop them off at the Daly City Beauty Shop. It's owner and manager, Lynne, who is chairlady of this project, will be glad to take them over on their next visit.

While on the subject of servicemen, here is another thought: How many of you neighbors who have no one in the service, know a boy who is in the service someplace? These boys are spread in every camp, base, and ship all over the world. Their folks of course write to them but they do appreciate hearing from the folks that they knew in the OLD HOME TOWN. They also appreciate magazines and pocket books to read in their spare time. It gets rather lonely at times on a base, so neighbors, why not make it a point to write at least one letter a week to some boy who has left his home so that you can feel safe in yours. How about it neighbors?

Happy Birthday

Among the many people who get robbed of their birthdays this year due to the fact of being born on Feb. 29th, are BILL BRUSH and RICHARD McARDLE. Too bad boys. Better luck in three years. This reporter would like to take this opportunity of wishing all LEAP YEAR folks a happy birthday.

Having a birthday last week was MICHEAL BRUSH. Mike is the son of the Allen Brushes of Winchester street. This young man who has just celebrated his twelfth birthday is a student of OLPH school where he participates in many of the athletic events. Mike is the older brother of Robert Brush who was bitten by George the hungry hound of Winchester street.

News and Views

The old stork is flapping it's wings very close to the home of MR. and MRS. STEWART MITCHELL of 87th street. Mrs. Mitchell is the erstwhile Helen Cooper of Winchester street. Helen will be remembered by all the alumni of Jefferson high as being "little but mighty." Mitch is in the process of learning to pace the floor nights. Take it easy MITCH, the worst is yet to come.

The old "flu bug" has been on the job again this past week. The latest victim being MRS. PHILIP LIBERTI of Winchester street. Take it easy Isabelle and all will be well. How Isabelle found time to have the flu is amazing! She is a member of the church choir, OLPH Mother's Club, mother of four children, and has a job besides. All who know Isabelle, know that the flu bug doesn't stand a chance against Isabelle's boundless energy.

The home of MR. and MRS. GEORGE McCLOUD of Miriam street was made happy this last week. They heard that their son GEORGE, who has been in Japan for many months, is on his way home. He should be home by the end of this month for a well-earned furlough from the Army. George is an alumnus of Jefferson high and was working for the Bank of America before he left for Army duty. Welcome home, George, from all your neighbors and mine.

Highlights of the Week

Washington's Birthday this year will be remembered as the day of THE BIG WIND. While damage to your neighbors and mine was not too extensive, MRS. DUFFY of Los Banos avenue lost a perfectly good roof, MRS. MAY BAKER of Vista Grande avenue donated her back windows, McGRAW PHARMACY lost a window and the RELISH BAKERY parted with the glass in their front door. Many other neighbors had sad looking fences that just could not withstand the gales. Fortunately there were no fires or there could have been some real damage done. I'm sure the "fire laddies" breathed a sigh of relief when the wind finally died down. Didn't we all!

Here is an item for all your neighbors and mine to think about. Last Saturday a fire was started at the bottom of a fence between two houses. The sad part was that it was started by several little boys who had "nothing to do." The people whose fence was burned were home but did not notice the fire and were fortunate that the fire was noticed by their neighbor, MRS. MARY MADDEN, who promptly turned in the alarm. Her husband, EARL, and son, JOHN, grabbed the hose and started to put out the fire. One of the little boys at the scene of the fire was trying to put it out with a can of water. The fortunate part was that either of the houses were not burned, but that the children themselves were not burned. Children and matches put together, neighbors, could spell tragedy, so let's keep them separated.

The LADIES AUXILIARY of Co. 1, Fire Department, entertained all the other Ladies Auxiliaries at a social last week. This gala event was held at the Veteran's Hall where the ladies played cards and were served delicious refreshments. That's one night when the "fire laddies" had to stay home and take over as babysitters. What a scramble there would have been if the fire siren had blown with all the ladies deserting the refreshments to dash home so papa could go to the fire!

Well NEIGHBORS, another week, another column. I hope that some, if not all of you, will find something of interest to you after reading this far. If you have any news of interest to YOUR NEIGHBORS AND MINE, let's share it. That is the purpose of this writers efforts. To bring "items of interest" to some of the people all of the time is going to be lots of fun. Fun for me to do, and fun for you to read—I hope. Keep reading, neighbors, as you never know just when you will find your name with something of interest to Your Neighbors and Mine. 'Bye Now.

Knowledge is Power

(1) Bill Larsen, a full-time carpenter, says it is very satisfying. He writes about his occupation in Work magazine. "I enjoy working outside;" he comments, "I enjoy working with my hands; I enjoy seeing the result of my work. And, most of all, I enjoy working at something that people need very much." People who complain about the high wages of building trades forget that few craftsmen get paid vacations, and most of them are laid off entirely for about a month in the winter.

(2) James Picker is the man who voluntarily gave the U. S. government $4 million during the past 10 years. Not in taxes, but as contributions. The story of this unusual person is told by A. E. Hotchner in This Week magazine. Picker is head of the Picker X-Ray Corp. When the company's profits increased sharply at the beginning of World War II due to army orders, Picker began sending large checks to the treasury. Picker explained later that he came to the U.S. as a penniless immigrant boy 52 years ago, and he appreciates the wonderful opportunities this country has afforded him.

(3) Depends on what you mean by rain making. Since May, 1950, the Water Resources Development Corp. of Arizona has been producing silver iodide smoke and sending it skyward from hills. When the silver iodide hits the right type of cloud, it picks up moisture and gains the weight necessary to fall as a raindrop. Scientists have been experimenting with rain-making processes for many years. Rain making is not successful, however, unless there are rain clouds in the vicinity. The silver iodide simply makes a cloud release more rain than it would naturally.

The board also heard from representatives of the Village Play school in Broadmoor, who informed members of a state bill now being considered that would do away with cooperative nursery schools.

The special payments were first period apportionments for current growth. Both districts will be eligible for additional moneys when they again submit growth reports in May.

San Mateo county school districts received a total of $293,052 from the state in the special payments for current growth. This apportionment was the fifth largest in the state, although San Mateo county is the 12th largest in school population, indicating that the rate of increase in number of pupils is extremely high.

Of this amount, $246,610.97 went to elementary school districts, $43,463.93 to high school districts, and $2,977.10 to the Junior College district as financial aid where school population has been increasing rapidly.

Largest amount going to any one elementary school district was that of $55,433.72 to the Redwood City elementary schools, with South San Francisco Unified district receiving $32,023.44, San Mateo elementary district receiving $42,185.33, and Ravenswood elementary school district, $37,747.37.

In the high schools, Sequoia union was high, being granted $22,377.98, and San Mateo second with $12,047.05.

Fire On Shakespeare Is Only False Alarm

Firemen though they had a fire on their hands on Shakespeare street yesterday, but it was only a youngster who was a little too cautious.

Howard Touhy, 57 Shakespeare, pulled the alarm box at 10 a.m. yesterday morning, thinking smoke coming from Flournoy and Ryan streets was a house fire.

What Touhy had seen was a trash fire.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy said the youth was a little over-eager, in sounding the alarm.

LOCAL RESIDENT IS ARRESTED IN MILLBRAE

George William Smith, 24, of 219 Station avenue, was arrested in Millbrae early Wednesday morning after he called police three times.

Officers reported Smith and a companion, David Nolan, 22, a clerk who gave the same address, called officers to the Bit of Rhythm at 1751 El Camino Real shortly after midnight.

Although they were warned not to call officers again, Smith telephoned twice within 10 minutes.

When police went to the bar the third time, they took both into custody.

HOMEOWNERS GROUP TO WRITE GOVERNOR

The Daly City Home Owners association, an organization formed to combat high taxes in this area, met Wednesday night at 460 Santa Barbara avenue and mapped further plans for their fight against the heavy tax burden here.

The members drew up a letter to be addressed to Governor Warren, the board of supervisors and the county assessor, asking why taxes have been raised to such a degree here.

The organization plans to circulate a petition protesting the high taxes in the near future.

Car, Clothing Stolen From Westlake Resident

A late model car containing several hundred dollars worth of clothing and other items was stolen from Robert Elliot, a salesman, last weekend.

Elliot, who lives at 120 Lynnewood drive, apartment 17, said the theft occurred sometime between 7:30 p.m. Friday and 8:15 a.m. Saturday.

Items stolen were: two blankets, three sets of silverware, two sample mattresses, two men's suits, two overcoats, aluminum ware and sample costume jewelry and a $1 bill fastened to the sun visor.

No Tears Lost Over This

Our plaudits go to the city council for nipping in the bud the ambulance agreement with the county of San Mateo.

This agreement was not only entirely unfair in its wording, but grossly injust in the manner in which it was interpreted.

Everything was on the county's side, and now that the pact has been abrogated, Daly City can offer ambulance service without waiting for the sheriff's office to get off its hind quarters and dispatch the service.

Under the agreement, when dispatched by the sheriff's office the city could charge the county for the call for those persons who are definitely indigent and unable to pay for ambulance service.

Meanwhile, the county, in all great charity, agreed to pay the city, when dispatched by the sheriff's office in emergency accident cases.

But the office had to approve of the determination of indigency and its decision was final and conclusive.

In other words, the county could call its shots, and, as was evidenced on numerous occasions, refuse to pay the city for services rendered to the county.

The county also supposedly maintains and operates a central ambulance dispatching service from the sheriff's office on a 24-hour-per-day basis—without discrimination and with regard only to speed and efficiency in answering said calls.

That's what it said in the agreement.

But in many instances when injured persons needed help, the alert sheriff's dispatchers were nowhere to be contacted.

In these cases the city ambulance workers took it upon themselves to think of the victims first, the dispatchers second, and gave aid.

This, according to the county, was not doing things in an efficient manner. In order to maintain an orderly system, the county must dispatch the cars—whether they bring 'em back dead or alive being only secondary.

Therefore, on many calls which the local ambulance responded to, the county refused to pay.

For about $75 a month more, the city of Daly City can supoprt operation of the ambulance on its own.

For that price it's worth it to get the county out of the city's hair.

Where Do They Stand?

Benner requested that all study and caucus sessions of the council be open to the public "as a matter of right."

His idea was that he believes individual council members should take a public position on proposals in order that voters may have proper opportunity to express their views at the municipal elections.

That same viewpoint is applicable to all cities, Daly City not excepted.

It's just one good argument in the closed caucus controversy, but the reasoning behind it is sound.

How are the voters of Daly City to know what a councilman's policy is?

The councilmen rarely take sides on any issues in the formal meetings, therefore leaving the citizens with the impression that they are a collection of "dough-faces," or "do-nothings."

We believe it would not only benefit the general public, but the councilmen, themselves, to let the people know where they stand as individuals occasionally.

There's Nothing Wrong With $5000

The site of the proposed sub-station is at present not within the corporate limits of Daly City.

But land owners in the Abbey Homestead area, which includes PG&E's site, are seeking to be annexed.

If this station is brought within the boundaries of Daly City, it will, in effect, become the area's first large industry—something which Daly City has sought for years.

Annual property taxes from the station will bring more than $5000 to the city's coffers.

Chief argument against the station has been that it will endanger lives of school children.

But the company's officials are cognizant of this, and plan to construct a ten-foot fence around the station.

The plant will not be an eye-sore. Tentative plans call for the area to be completely landscaped with lawn and shrubbery.

With these factors alone in mind, there is no logical reason why the plant should not be a part of Daly City.

And that's not even mentioning the serious need of such a plant. Setting up the plant is a necessity, in view of current electricity needs.

If they don't build it in Daly City, it'll be just a few hundred yards outside the boundaries anyway, and this city will be out some $5000 a year in revenue.

Answering The Call

How common and how comforting is that report which we invariably read in the news account of any major disaster at home or abroad.

But suppose there was no Red Cross to aid the injured and the homeless? Suppose victims of a flood, a tornado, or an earthquake were left to get along as best they could, or with such incidental and unorganized assistance as could be obtained on a moment's notice? Let us further suppose that there was no organization to carry on the blood donor program for boys wounded in battle, no organization to assist the dependents of servicemen, no organization to do the thousand and one charitable and humanitarian services performed by the Red Cross.

Such a situation is unthinkable. But the only thing that prevents that situation is financial support from the public. And it takes not only the big donations of many thousands of dollars from business concerns such as Pacific Telephone Company, Bank of America, Standard Oil and others, but the small contributions—the dollars YOU and millions of others give—to make up the sum needed for the continuation of the far-flung activities of the Red Cross.

So, let your giving come from your heart as well as your pocketbook. And let it come today! Don't wait to be asked.

The Pedestrian Isn't Always Right

The Daly City motorist has come in for some well-deserved criticism for his disregard of the pedestrian.

But how about the pedestrian's disregard of the motorist—or, more precisely, of the motorist's automobile?

We've all seen the type who walk into the street without the slightest glance in either direction. Then there's the "I-dare-you-to-hit-me" variety who saunter insolently along the pedestrian lane while traffic piles up.

In spite of the frightful toll on streets and highways the miracle of it all is that people on foot get by as well as they do. This is not to say that most of us are reckless walkers. But it is a protest against the abuse of the pedestrian's privilege.

Crossing streets in the middle of the block, dashing out from between parked cars, moving against traffic signals—these are some of the things most common among those who walk.

Such bad traffic manners wouldn't be quite so serious if it weren't that the pedestrian is putting his life on the line. Many of them lose the gamble. And even if the motorist who hits him is completely innocent, he too, suffers mentally, if not physically.

So to the pedestrian we'd say: Use your head—it's the best way to keep it.

CONGRESSMAN YOUNGER REPORTS ON ACTIVITIES IN WASHINGTON

The House Appropriations Committee has demonstrated that it is determined to cut appropriations during this session. In the first supplemental appropriation bill, the amount recommended by the Appropriations Committee was only $904,672,920 from budget requests of $2,303,719,590, or a reduction of almost one and a half billion dollars.

The House did restore $20,500,000 of the $24,000,000 which was eliminated from funds going to the defense impacted school districts, but only after a determined fight. I voted with the committee on this measure because the evidence presented at the hearing was not conclusive as to the needs.

Further Attempt

A further attempt was made on the floor of the House to amend the appropriation bill by adding $10,000,000 for Veterans' Hospital facilities, but this amendment was defeated on a teller vote of 201 to 180. These were the only two attempts to amend the bill. The supplemental appropriations with the one amendment was then passed on a roll call vote of 369 to 2. I think this very well illustrates the temper of the House as it relates to future appropriation bills.

Our Interstate and Foreign Committee has continued with its hearings of those agencies over which the committee has legislative jurisdiction. Particularly interesting were the days devoted to the Oil and Gas Division of the Interior Department, the Petroleum Administration for Defense, and the Mutual Security Agency. They were reporting on their activities in the petroleum and gas field. Two facts were of unusual interest to me: First, the crude oil production in the Middle East is now up to where it was before the Iranian fields were shut down. In other words, the balance of the fields in the Middle East have increased their production by approximately 500,000 barrels per day. Second, 97% of all the aviation gas manufactured in the free world is now produced in the Americas.

Federal Communications

We spent two days with the Federal Communications Commission hearing of their activities in the past year in the communications field, including their work in television. It seems unfortunate, but many applications for television licenses have been on file for approximately a year without determination. It seems strange to me, coming from a business activity which pays for all of its inspections, examinations, and supervision, to find that the taxpayers are called upon to bear the costs of all of the examinations, hearings, and costs of licensing radio and television stations, as well as supervising telephone and telegraph communications. Perhaps something can be done in the way of adopting a schedule of fees during this session to make a number of these commissions self-supporting or nearly so.

An Early Grave

This is one place where a person can eat himself into an early grave if he want to avail himself of all the invitations. The week of February 16th will give you an idea of what I mean: On Monday night there was a banquet given by the Sugar Beet Industry Policy Committee; Tuesday night there was a banquet given by the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Wednesday night by the Veterans of Foregn Wars, Department of California gave a banquet for the California delegation; Thursday night the Short Line Railroads gave a banquet for the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee; Friday night there was a dinner at the Davis House, which is operated by the Friends Society, after which there was a forum. I do not wish to convey the idea that this is a typical week, but it is not far from being typical.

On February 23 and 24, the Pennsylvania Railroad invited the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committees of both the Senate and the House, together with the Interstate Commerce Commissioners, for an inspection trip of their railway facilities. We were accompanied by 28 of their top executives, including Mr. Franklin, the president of the line.

Special Train

We enjoyed the luxury of an eleven car special train, making a triangular trip from Washington to Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, to New York and return trip to Washington. We viewed such facilities as the freight classification yard handling some 3,000 car per day, a diesel locomotive shop, the new Fairless Steel Works, an interlocking tower controlling over 500 trains daily, and the mail sorting and control rooms in Philadelphia. It was a most instructive and helpful trip for those in the Congress called upon to deal with railway legistlation. I had the privilege of riding in the electric locomotive from Philadelphia to Wilmington, Delaware.

We have recently had the pleasure of a visit from J. Carl Ferrell of Redwood City, J. Rufus Klawans of San Francisco, Theodore M. Collier of Menlo Park, John E. Phillips and Luther T. Hoffman and George A. Van Vliet of San Mateo.

Incorrect Parking Can Cost Life, Property

THE CAR IN this picture might be yours, if you don't follow proper hilside parking procedures. Drawing at top shows correct way to park car when facing down or up hill. Police Chief Roland Petrocchi says accidents involving runaway cars have been on the increase lately. If continued infractions of hill parking ordinance occur, there is a possibility that fine may be increased from $1.50 to $5, Petrocchi said.

AROUND THE AREA

Double Double Births

Two south county mothers gave birth to twins within a few hours of each other at Sequoia hospital last Thursday—an event unprecedented in the annuals of the two and a half year old hospital.

After checking birth records, hospital officials agreed it was a record to have three boys and a girl born within five hours to two mothers.

Principals in the record breaking event were Susan and Stephen Mahoney, weighing 5 pounds, 14 ounces and 5 pounds, 7½ ounces, respectively, who arrived at 1:12 and 1:21 p.m. and Thomas and Timothy Landreth, 3 pounds, 12 ounces and 3 pounds ½ ounce, respectively, who made their entry at 6:04 p.m.

Trace GI Killer

Mrs. Hildegard Garni Pelton, object of a month-long search for the "kiss of death" murder of her San Francisco estranged husband, apparently eluded police of this country by Hitler Youth tactics, Mexican authorities said last week.

It was revealed that Mrs. Pelton, alias Helen Curtis, was held temporarily on a vagrancy charge in Nogales, N. M., only three days after the slaying of her husband—and then released by Nogales police before it was learned she was a fugitive from a murder charge.

She slipped over the border and was last reported to have been seen in Guaymas, a fishing resort in Mexico on the Gulf of California.

Aid of Mexican authorities in apprehending her has been sought.

Captain Peter Starasinic, Alameda county sheriff's office chief criminal deputy, said Mrs. Pelton received training in Germany as a member of the Hitler youth movement before World War II.

Roof Collapses

A timber strut roof under construction at 112 Tenth avenue, San Mateo, crashed to the pavement Tuesday, injuring three carpenters in the mass of flying timbers.

Two other carpenters escaped injury as the 4-by-18-foot timbers pulled out from the cement wall and plunged into the center of the one and one-half story building under construction by the Joseph Ragni company of San Francisco and owned by the Golden Gate Wholesale florists of Colma.

The crash could be heard for blocks. No immediate cause for the sudden collapse of the structure could be determined.

Artichokes Hit

The county's $1,000,000 artichoke crop has been hard hit by the recent early morning frosts, according to Ian Campbell, assistant agricultural commissioner.

Much of the crop will be scarred by the frost, but has not been damaged seriously enough to keep it out of the market, he declared.

Artichokes are the county's second most valuable crop.

MY MAD WORLD

by Leonore Brewer

The past week or two have been vibrant with excitement. Bright visions have floated through my world in grand jetes the like of which have never been seen on any stage. Surrounded by billowing clouds of dust, I have pawed my way through yellowed clippings. Whisps of ballet music have chased each other around the house, while Adam and Chopin have threatened to usurp the pedestals customarily occupied by Beethoven and Verdi. Ballet Theatre will be here March 2 through 8.

After an operatic performance such as last year's Mefistofele, I am convinced that opera is the greatest in the world. But then I see the superb technical virtuosity of a great Giselle or Swan Queen, and I carry out of the theater the conviction that to have been born to be prima ballerina is the greatest gift the gods could bestow, and worth ten times the endless practice and dedication it demands.

Having reread the above, I fear that perhaps my enthusiasm has galloped away with me, to the accompaniment of the indignant snorts of those who feel that ballet is the ultimate expression of a useless avocation. But if you are a balletomane, I need not beg your forgiveness. Performances are all too few, and unlike music which can be enjoyed to some extent through records, a ballet has the intangibility of a dream. When it is over, it is over, and there is no magic by which it can be recreated.

True, some recent films have contributed considerably toward bringing a knowledge of ballet to a vast audience which touring companies find uneconomical to touch. Interesting as some of these sequences have been, they do not replace the performances given by a company of the stature of Ballet Theater.

In the event that you flatter me by being curious as to what programs I chose, there were two. Tuesday evening to see Giselle, which has survived more than one hundred years of performances and remains the supreme test of a prima ballerina. And Friday, for no particular reason except that the months between visiting companies are long.

Hog Ranch Quarantine?

Hog ranches may be quarantined where raw garbage is fed to hogs and where swine infected with vesicular exanthema are not destroyed.

This was the statement made by Dr. R. E. Duckworth, assistant director of the state department of agriculture.

Dr. Duckworth said the proposals, "which must be adopted sooner or later, will have a profound effect on the hog raising industry in San Mateo county."

More Maurer Malice

San Bruno's fighting city councilman is fighting for his life and last week a fellow councilman, Clay Fisher, wanted to put the fighting on a physical basis.

Fisher, a member of the council majority back City Manager Matt Slankard, said he would punch the 79-year-old city father in the nose if he continued to mention his name in his pamphlet, "Who's Who."

Maurer is a present the subject of a recall movement by citizens ired by his attack on the city manager.

Sips Poison, Calls Law

William Zwierlein, 28, of 988 Portola avenue, Woodside, drank a portion of wine and merthialate Sunday night as he talked over a telephone with a sheriff's radio dispatcher.

The dispatcher, Martha Browne, said she heard Zwierlein devour the drink, and then, with the aid of another dispatcher, Herschel Gayton, sent officers to the Zwierlein home.

He was rushed to Community hospital where his stomach was pumped. He was reported out of danger Monday.

Stickups Net $500

Nearly $500 in cash was taken by bandits in two holdups in Redwood City and East Palo Alto Sunday morning and evening.

One stickup man escaped with approximately $400 from the Safeway Market at Redwood City's Five Points Sunday night after locking two employees in the store's vegetable room.

In another robbery, two thugs took $82.50 from the U-Gas-It self-service station at University avenue and Bayshore highway early Sunday morning. The victim was Charles Schmidt, 19, of 945 Woodland avenue, Menlo Park. The robbers took Schmidt's eye glasses, apparently so he could not get a good look at them and identify them.

In The Past

TEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Thursday, March 4—To keep in constant readiness for a possible enemy air raid was the warning directed to civilian defense volunteers and residents of Daly City today, by Arthur J. Bodien, head of the Civilian Defense Council.

Bodien emphasized the necessity for "constant" civilian defense protection and warned against apathy toward it.

Lieutenant Robert N. McCune, Daly City flier in the Army Air corps, was killed in action over Western Europe, according to a war department telegram received here Thursday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McCune, 82 Peoria street.

He was well known in Daly City and popular with the young people in the community, who watched his progress in the air corps with a great deal of interest. Before his appointment to the air corps, McCune was graduated from San Mateo junior college.

Final abatement proceedings against properties located at 6951-6995 Mission street and 5 and 7 Bismark street, described as a "public nuisance" and violating the health and safety codes," are expected to get underway Monday night when the council meets.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Friday, March 4—The Daly City council at its regular meeting Monday evening of this week opened two bids for construction of the addition to the city library.

One was submitted by Munson brothers and was for $4750. The other was submitted by H. H. Smith and called for an expenditure of $4171.

Raymond Trimmer, 34, of 406 Niantic avenue, was drowned Saturday afternoon while fishing at Salada beach.

While his five-year-old son watched from the top of a nearby cliff, Trimmer slipped off a rocky ledge below into the heavy surf.

The victim was heavily clothed and had no chance against the battering waves. His fall occurred a few minutes after he had climbed down the 400 foot cliff.

Miss Eleanor Bernardine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Milhaupt, and Ray Walter Sweeney of Mission street, were married Saturday morning of last week at a nuptial mass at Saint Matthew's Catholic church in San Mateo.

Rev. Father Joseph Burns of Old Saint Mary's church in San Francisco, a former school chum of the groom, performed the ceremony.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO IN THE RECORD

Friday, March 2 — A baffling murder mystery confronts the police of San Francisco as the result of the mysterious disappearance and later the finding of the body of Fred Bettoni, 36, of San Francisco, in Guadalupe road, behind the Crocker hills in Daly City.

Bettoni, a well known North Beach figure, mysteriously vanished from the crowded vicinity of Columbus avenue and Broadway, San Francisco, at about 6:30 Saturday night while his wife waited for him in a restaurant about a block away.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Anderson, 52 Risel street, celebrated the 12th anniversary of their wedding at their home Saturday night.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Otto Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. V. Savelly, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. B. Ayres, Mr. and Mrs. W. Delaney, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lymen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merkel, Mrs. P. RIDGELY CUMMINGS REPORTS: ...from HOLLYWOOD

On Limelight

It's a sad commentary on the courage of Hollywood motion picture exhibitors when a student of the cinema is compelled to travel 400 miles from the center of the industry to see a particular film. And that's what happened.

Because an American Legion boycott has scared the pants off local theatre owners, I had to go from Hollywood to San Francisco to examine Chaplin's "Limelight."

It was playing a second run in the northern California city, having opened there some months ago to packed houses. In contrast to the threat of picket lines down here, which has kept the picture off local screens, the only lines around the San Francisco theatre were those of people waiting to get in.

One-Man Show

Despite a large and excellent cast, "Limelight" is still mostly a one-man show. Written, directed, produced and acted by Charles Chaplin, it is sad and funny, philosophic, pathetic, delightful and a trifle too long.

It is sad because Chaplin is a realist who sees life as a struggle full of ridiculous frustration and tragedy.

It is funny because Chaplin still retains remnants of comic greatness. This comes to light especially in the piano-violin duet scene with Buster Keaton, one of the most hilarious hits of inanity to grace the screen lately, although it is marred by draggy cutting.

It is philosophic because Chaplin obviously is trying to express in this picture his attitudes and beliefs relative to ultimate verities. Some of his philosophy is platitudinous, some is a little pompous, but mostly it has the ring of sincerity. The artist is speaking in complete and serious honesty.

A Pathetic Nostalgia

It is pathetic because of a nostalgic quality. The picture has an air of remembered greatness. A sort of self-conscious imitation creeps into some of the best scenes, as though Charlie remembered with longing his youthful self. Then he did what came naturally and it turned out to be art. Now he seems to be groping, desperately trying to recapture that fading spirit of youthful genius that pervaded his best works.

It is delightful because, despite the flaws mentioned above and the ones I will point to hereafter, it is far and away superior to the great run of motion pictures.

Virtue of Unity

If Chaplin had allowed others to participate more fully in its making it might have been better. "Limelight" has the virtue of unity but lacks something of the discipline and the richness that comes from the merging and cross-fertilization of several varied talents. Nowadays great pictures are the results of the collaboration of many minds, but this one always relects just one personality.

"Limelight" needs the editing and cutting of someone other than the producer, not to alter but rather to concentrate its impact. Many of the scenes, such as the one where the ballerina regains the use of her legs, continues too long after the point has been made.

Story Is Simple

The story line is a simple one. A famous comedian, fallen into obscurity from drink, illness and the encroachments of old age, saves from attempted suicide a young dancer also discouraged and hopeless.

The way in which their devotion to each other effects the rehabilitation and triumph of both is the theme of the story.

Even though it lacks complexity, it is a tremendously moving tale, and much of the reason for this is the magnificent acting of Clair Bloom, the young ballerina. She is beautiful and sensitive and just what Chaplin needs as a foil and a heroine.

In recent years there have been several outstanding films on the subject of the great comeback, films which portrayed powerfully and skillfully the various phases of human greed, human treachery, and the ruthlessness that does not hesitate to sacrifice anyone to the achievement of ambition.

Has No Villain

One of the amazing things about the Chaplin film is that it has no villain. No one conspires to betray, no one plots another's downfall for his own advantage. The denouement is determined by the logical development of the characters.

At the moment of his greatest triumph, the comedian dies in the wings, with all the inevitability of a Greek tragedy and some of the corn and schmaltz implicit in such an idea.

After all the hue and cry of the American Legion and the Immigration department about the morals of Charles Chaplin, it is interesting to note that he has produced in "Limelight" a film which reflects all the gentle virtues. It is completely devoid of violence, sadism, and sex in its more blatant manifestations. There is nothing here to offend the most stringent moralist.

More people gave education as their reason for attending the California State Fair than all other reasons combined, in a customer audit made at the 1952 fair.

Five hours was the average time spent on the California State Fair grounds by the 778,256 persons attending the 1952 state fair.

NEWS NOTES FOR VETERANS

It's all right for ex-Korea servicemen to submit an official carbon copy of their Report of Separation, form DD 214, in substantiating their veteran status when applying for educational benefits under the Korea GI Bill, Floyd D. Granger, veterans service officer of San Mateo county, pointed out today.

An earlier regulation which called for the original or a photostatic copy of the separation report has been changed by the veterans administration to include official carbon copies of DD 214 as completely acceptable in establishing a veteran's right to educational benefits, the service officer explained.

Veterans with at least 90 days' active service who have been discharged since June 27, 1950, are eligible for federal educational assistance at the rate of one and a half days of training for each day of service since the Korean conflict started.

Noting Korea veterans sometimes are not issued the Defense Department's official report of separation at the time of their discharge, Granger urged that veterans who haven't yet received the DD214 form take immediate steps to obtain one.

The document is necessary, he said, in applying for educational assistance, GI loans and other veteran's benefits.

Information on the entire program of benefits available to Korea veterans under Public Law 550, the new GI Bill, is obtainable at the Veterans Service Office, 517 Marshall street in Redwood City, directly in back of the courthouse.

Highlights of the convention will include election of state officers and regional directors and a report on the status of political affairs in San Mateo county by Weeks, who states that this county is "one of the few in California that went 100 per cent Republican in partisan offices in the November election." The Board of Directors has empowered Love to appoint additional delegates to the convention.

PACK 248 CELEBRATES

In honor of scouting's 43rd birthday, Westlake Cub Scouts held a blue and gold birthday party Friday evening, Feb. 27.

Each den made its own place cards, decorations, centerpieces, and refreshments. The cubs of Den 1 and 7 each made cakes that were both tempting to the eyes and delicious to the taste.

Den 6 made pop corn balls, wrapped in yellow and blue paper, Dens 3 and 5 made fruit punch.

When the large U shaped table was completed with all the festive decor and eye-appealing goodies, it would have done credit to any adult group, den mothers said.

After the flag ceremony, the yearly official inspection was held, conducted by neighborhood commissioner Walter Dunon, and district commissioner Phillip Schwarz.

Den 3, consisting of six boys, all passed with 100 per cent. The den that passes the most inspections with high score will win an outing or luncheon.

They are being replaced by George Bozzini, committee chairman, and Warren Johnston, cubmaster. We hope the parents will get behind them one hundred per cent.

Next month pack 248 will have a Mardi Gras with costumes and a carnival. Watch for more details and plan to come.

Den 5, No. 248, will appear on Jolly Bill's television program, Wednesday, March 4. They hope everyone will be watching for them.

The tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Morris Riback, 1622 Forest View avenue, Burlingame, at 8 p.m., March 12.

All those interested in attending, contact Mrs. Joseph Klebanoff, 203 Indio drive, South San Francisco, JUno 8-9192, and transportation will be arranged.

The bald eagle was adopted by the Second Continental Congress on June 20, 1872, as the national emblem of the United States.

Twentieth Easter Seal Campaign Is Underway

This week marks the opening of the twentieth annual Easter seal campaign to raise funds for vitally needed services to San Mateo county's crippled children and adults.

The drive got underway today with the mailing of more than 65,000 appeal letters to county residents containing the familiar sheet of Easter seals. Each letter has a convenient self-addressed envelope which donors may use in sending in their Easter seal contribution.

Services Cost $25,000

Services to crippled children and adults in the county last year cost in excess of $25,000. This year additional funds are needed to provide additional facilities in the carriage house workshop on the Mills Estate, Milbrae, which the local Easter seal society maintains as a rehabilitation center for handicapped youngsters and adults.

Mrs. Richard Heimann, president of the society, on the opening of the drive underscored the importance of the dollar donation. She said that if each recipient of an Easter seal appeal letter mailed in a modest dollar contribution the society's fund goal for 1953 could be met within the month allocated to the campaign effort which ends on April 5th.

President Confident

She was confident that local citizens acting with their usual generosity, would recognize the importance of the services offered crippled children and adults here and support the Easter seal drive by sending in their contributions promptly.

The society president said that although the campaign extends through Easter Sunday, no follow-up or duplicate appeal letters would be mailed.

Need Parent's Support

James R. Tormey, superintendent of county schools and chairman of this year's drive, felt that parents particularly would lend their support to the Easter seal fund raising.

"There are many mothers and fathers in our county who have visited the society's workshop and realize how necessary it is to provide crippled youngsters with the training and therapy offered there," Tormey said.

"Many parents, whose children have been handicapped as a result of illness, realize that the society affords them the only service through which their child may be aided in the long and costly training needed to restore confidence and regain health," Tormey further stated.

Three County Civic Leaders Given PTA Life Memberships

Three San Mateo county civic leaders, all men, received life membership awards from Seventeenth district, California Congress of Parents and Teachers at the district's annual founder's day luncheon held recently at the Pioneer Hotel in Woodside.

The honored trio, invited ostensibly to speak on their various fields of community service, received the awards at surprise ceremonies during the luncheon program. Recipients were Dr. Harold Chope, Bert Werder and Stanley Schnepple.

Work In Medicine

Dr. Chope, who is director of public health and welfare for the county, was cited for his specialized work in the field of preventive medicine, his active service to the proposed Peninsula hospital and his longtime interest in PTA affairs.

In nominating Werder for life membership, the PTA pointed to his leadership in Boy Scouting and YMCA work and recognized him as a spark plug in the Save Butano Forest campaign as well as all conservation movements throughout the county. Werder will retire this year after serving as county fire warden since 1921.

Third recipient of a life membership in the CCPT, Schnepple has been superintendent of Ravenswood school district for eight years, coming to the peninsula from school posts in Oakland and Alameda. He is also a member of the advisory board of 17th district.

Membership Group

Serving on the honorary life membership committee were Mesdames J. L. Whetsel, chairman, J. M. Foley, Roy N. Cloud Jr., George Elliott and J. B. Mills.

Mrs. H. P. Eder introduced several past presidents and honorary life members of the district. Among them was Mrs. L. G. Owens who was the first president of Seventeenth district when it was founded in 1927. She also holds a life membership.

"Challenges to American Education" was the topic chosen by Dr. Elon E. Hildreth, San Mateo Junior College president as keynote speaker. He pointed out that "the welfare of this country is bound up in the education of its people, and we have never done a better job of teaching the 3 R's in the country than we are now."

Sight-Saving Classes

The district business session included announcement of plans to purchase equipment for county sight-saving classes and for the mentally-handicapped children. Members were asked to help find donors of a piano and yardage remnants for Hillcrest Juvenile hall. Remnants may be brought to the next Executive Board meeting or to the March district meeting. Mrs. I. E. Engelman, community service chairman, reported a total of $49,464.94 had been collected in San Mateo county in the Mothers' March on Polio.

The Executive Board of 17th District CCPT will be held at the Burlingame high school Little Theatre on March 2nd at 9:30 a.m. Unit presidents are reminded that all annual reports for the annual convention which will be held in San Carlos Central school on March 19th.

Pershing PTA Hits Goal In Spring Festival

"Due to the splendid cooperation of everyone," PTA officers said, General Pershing PTA's spring festival held Friday was a "big success."

The goal of $300 was reached by the PTA.

Much credit, the PTA said, goes to Mrs. George Day, who was chairman of the festival, and also to the following chairmen of the various booths: Mrs. George Schmale, plants; Mrs. Robert Keith and Mrs. Edward Pennington, white elephant; Mrs. Clarence Sciaroni and Mrs. W. W. Hackaday, needlework and handicraft; Mrs. Howard Derham, cakes and cookies; Mrs. George Naylor, Mrs. L. E. Yule and Mrs. Jessie Brown, fish pond; Mrs. F. Fazendin and Mrs. A. W. Robertson, books and magazines; and Mrs. K. W. Ryan, whist.

The PTA also thanked the teachers and the children who made the articles and posters. Mrs. A. Bishop, second grade teacher, was the poster chairman.

Highlight of the evening was the spaghetti dinner. Mrs. John Eason made the sauce and meatballs and Mrs. Lyal Ingersoll the cole slaw.

In a return engagement at Gen. Pershing's regular meeting the Rev. Cannon Nelson led a discussion after the movie, "Preface to a Life."

The movie illustrated how the dreams and ambitions of parents for their children can affect their attitudes and mold the child's personality and character.

It pointed out that the healthiest attitude is to realize that each child is an individual in his own right and not merely a projection of his parents.

Many questions from the parents about their own children and home problems were answered by the Rev. Nelson and discussed by the group.

The PTA spoke highly of such meetings and programs. "They are very beneficial because they help parents to understand that what they thought were their own particular problems are shared by many and have been solved before."

County Legion Posts To Sponsor 22-Act Circus In San Mateo

Circus time comes soon to San Mateo county under the sponsorship of the Daly City American Legion and 17 other Legion posts throughout the county.

Twenty-two big time acts will be repeated twice daily under the big top at the Fiesta building, San Mateo, on Saturday and Sunday, March 21 and 22.

Proceeds of the show, biggest of its kind here in recent years, will go to the child welfare and veterans rehabilitation fund of the Twenty-Sixth District (San Mateo county) of the American Legion.

Local Post Cooperates

Ben Magnuson, commander, Daly City Post No. 410, announced today that the local post is cooperating 100 per cent in the county-wide affair. "It is our biggest opportunity to build up this very wonderful fund, and every Legionnaire in the city is backing the circus," Magnuson said.

Charles Berryessa of San Mateo is chairman of the Legion circus, and George Mann of San Mateo is co-chairman. They were appointed by Bill Davidson of Redwood City, 26th district commander.

Berryessa joined Magnuson in praising the Lehr-Simmons Legion Circus. "I've previewed the 22 acts," Berryessa said, "and each one is worthy of star billing. We wanted to hold the program to three hours but couldn't decide which acts to eliminate so the audience will get even more for its money."

Owners Well Known

Owners of the show are two well known circus personalities. Raynor Lehr is the brother of the late Lew Lehr, famous show business figure, and Don Simmons was for many years with the famous Polack Bros. Shrine Circus. Both have 30 years experience in show business.

They have produced their outstanding show by combining human and animal acts from throughout the world. Bareback riders, gymnasts, unicycle riders, acrobats, aerial performers, clowns, trapeze artists, Spanish web performers, and jugglers make up the human element.

Among the animals performing their distinctive tricks will be lions, elephants, horses, bears, pelicans, dogs, monkeys, rats and chimpanzes.

Assisting Berryessa and Mann are committee chairmen and co-chairmen Frank Gomes and Frank Howard, finance; Davidson and Charles Lyons, tickets; and Proctor Jones, publicity.

Eleanor Nessier, Robert Smyth United In Double Ring Ceremony

At a recent wedding at Holy Angels church in Colma, at which Father Henry Vetter officiated, Eleanor Nessier and Robert Smyth were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nessier of Colma, was given in marriage by her father.

For her wedding gown, she chose white satin with over-skirted nylon tulle and heart-shaped lace bodice. Her white veil was attached to a tiara of orange blossoms and bouvardias with Lily of Valley centered with white orchids forming her bouquet.

Miss Betty Donegan, friend of the bride, acted as maid of honor. Her dress was of ballerina length pale green marquisette with matching stole. She carried a bouquet of pink bouvardias and wore a head piece of forget-me-nots.

Miss Vivian Nessier, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. Her dress was of pink nylon net with a head-piece of forget-me-nots and carried a bouquet of bouvardias and forget-me-nots. Johnny Nessier, nephew of the bride, attended as ring bearer, and Mr. Edward Smyth, brother of the groom, performed duties as best man.

The bride's mother was attired in a blue-gray lace dress with pink and black accessories.

The groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smyth of Saint Louis, Missouri. Eleanor attended the local schools and is a graduate of Jefferson union high school.

A reception followed at the Whitcomb hotel after which the justweds left for a honeymoon in Southern California and the Grand Canyon. Upon their return, they will reside in Winston Manor.

Colma Vista Grande Auxiliary Observes 55th Anniversary

Mrs. Dolores Warren, madam president of Colma Vista Grande auxiliary No. 1848, Fraternal Order of Eagles, reported that the Eagles celebrated their 55th anniversary on Feb. 6. The organization was founded in Seattle, Washington, on Feb. 6, 1898.

Mrs. Warren stated that ladies auxiliaries to the aeries were first instituted in 1926. Membership in the aeries is restricted to males. By 1944 there were only 360 auxiliaries throughout the Eagle jurisdiction. Eagle units have been established throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Guam and the Philippines.

Since 1944, however, auxiliaries have more than tripled their numbers and at the present time, there are more than 1100 ladies units possessing a membership greater than 150,000. Such rapid strides has led the grand aerie, the Eagles' governing body, to make special arrangements for the administration of the ladies units.

The grand aerie created the grand auxiliary to supervise the activities of the Eagle women. A grand madam president, Mrs. Kay Guy of Irwin, Pennsylvania, was named. Mrs. Guy's duties are similar to the duties of the grand worthy president of the grand aerie.

Prior to the time of the formation of the Grand Auxiliary, the Eagle Auxiliaries, although having local projects of their own, chiefly cooperated with the men in the aeries. "For example," Mrs. Warren said, "we have been helping the men for the past three years in raising money for the Damon Runyon cancer fund. To date, the Eagles have raised more than $330,000 for the Runyon fund and this money has been turned over to the fund's treasurer, Walter Winchell. The women played a large part in those activities."

Recently, however, the auxiliaries have adopted their own program. Muscular dystrophy—beter known as the "mystery disease"—is a progressive wasting away of muscular powers until the victim of the disease contracts another ailment such as pneumonia or heart disease which is usually fatal because of the weakened condition of the victim.

The "mystery disease," for which there is no known cure at the present time, usually strikes at children. There are 65,000 child-victims of the disease while 35,000 adults are afflicted. The money raised by the Eagle women will be sent to universities and research centers where doctors and scientists are working to discover a cure. Colma Vista Grande donated the proceeds from their monthly whist. Marge Lynch was chairman for this worthy cause.

"The Eagles' biggest program is the Memorial Foundation. The Memorial Foundation was set up to help the sons and daughters of Eagle members who died as a result of military service during or following the second world war," Mrs. Warren pointed out.

The foundation provides complete medical, dental, surgical, clinical and optical care as well as affording educational grants to these children. At present, there are 1346 children in the foundation "family." The Korean campaign, has added many children.

HAVE A LOOK AT CABLE

Battery terminal corrosion has one effect that often escapes attention until it results in a roadside stall, according to the National Automobile Club. That is its tendency to eat the cable connection. A motorist recently had the terminals of the car battery cleaned. No inspection of the cable was made. A few hours later, right at the height of his satisfaction with a job well done, the cable connection with the terminal broke. A new unit was necessary. Considerable trouble and expense might have been saved had inspection been a part of the cleaning work.

The early Greeks selected 12 exhibitors at their fairs to try in a court any exhibitors who broke the rules.

JEFFS TURN BACK LINCOLN; COP PAL CROWN

Full House At Card Gym See 53-46 Win

With the chips down Tuesday night, Jefferson's varsity displayed a cool exhibition of cage artistry to defeat Lincoln high, 53-46, and claim the championship of the Peninsula Athletic league.

The contest, played to an enthusiastic throng in Stanford pavilion, marked the third in the playoffs between the champion of the north and south divisions of the league.

Jefferson suffered a 63-53 setback in the initial game Friday and came back to win the second contest Saturday, 64 to 61.

The first period in the rubber game saw neither team take more than a one-point advantage. The Jeffs kept pace with the Lions long shots by making good at the free throw line, and the game was tied up at 11 all at the close of the first quarter.

Center Wayne Lovelace, displaying a lay-in shot that couldn't be stopped, led the winners with 17 points.

Going into the second period the Indians demonstrated smooth passing, with Guard Tom Costello and Center Wayne Lovelace working in under the bucket to rack up two-pointers.

After successive buckets by forward Don Delbon and Costello the Jeffs held a 25-19 advantage with only a minute remaining on the clock in the first half. The Lions added two field goals, while the Jeffs hit for one charity marker, giving them a 26-23 half-time lead.

The southern division champs, hitting with unerring accuracy on long set shots, overtook the locals late in the third quarter and held a brief 35-34 lead.

Coach Mike Orlich's Jefferson cage machine then started humming again, as the Indians hit for five points, and took command with a 39-36 margin at the close of the third period.

The Jeffs began to show their regular season form in the final quarter, executing some fancy ball handling in the key and hawking the ball regularly, and sped to a 51-42 lead with two minutes remaining in the game.

Speedy forward Larry Blanchard pilfered a Lincoln pass in the final minute and was fouled as he broke down court. He made good on the charity tosses as the gun sounded.

COLONIZING OF NEW MEXICO

The first attempt to colonize New Mexico was made by Gaspar Castano de Sosa in 1950, reports the National Automobile Club. Later arrested for making an unauthorized entry, Castano was returned to Mexico City in chains.

JEFFS DROP CLOSE ONE TO POLY HIGH

Jefferson's varsity baseball team dropped a contest to Polytechnic high Tuesday, although they out hit the Poly team, 8 to 5.

A passed ball on Jeff catcher Vic Irons was the margin of victory, as Poly edged out the locals, 5 to 4 in the practice game held here.

The bobble came in the fifth frame after a Poly man had walked and stolen second base.

The run, climaxing a four-run drive in the third inning, gave Poly a 5-1 lead. The Indians came back with two in the sixth.

A Jeff rally in the bottom of the sixth produced one run, but fell short.

Pitcher Joe Lewkowitz, who has showed up strong in practice sessions to date, allowed the opposition only five hits.

Lewkowitz has racked up 24 strikeouts in the last three practice outings.

The varsity won't be at full strength until members of the basketball team report after next week.

The Indians meet Lick Wilmerding high here today at 3:15 p.m. Starting on the mound for the locals will be Lowell Creighton.

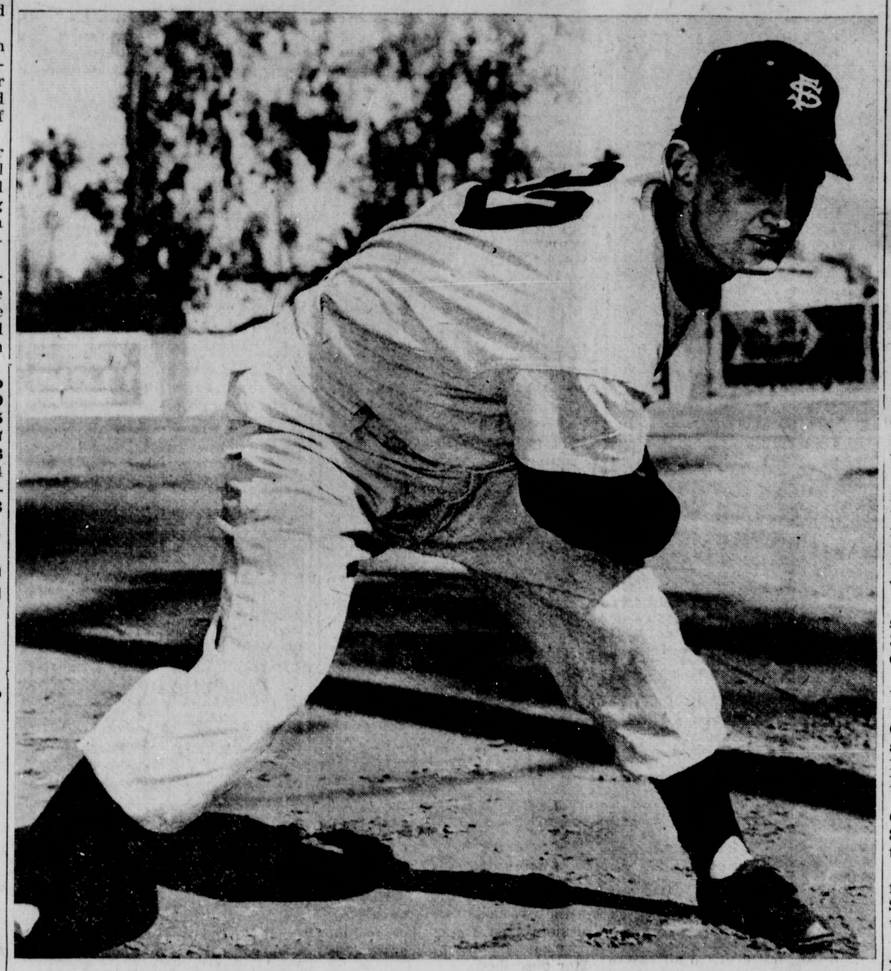
Young Chuck Donley, Former Jeff Ace, Works At Seals Camp



CHUCK DONLEY, 18-year-old prep star at Jefferson high, is one of a number of promising young hurlers who are in spring training with the San Francisco Seals in Riverside. Donley won three games with Yakima. He's the youngest Seal picther on the roster. Donley says he was so scared his knees were shaking and "everybody in the park saw it" his first time on the mound with Yakima. The native San Franciscan starred four years while at Jefferson, before entering professional ball. The youthful 182 pound, 6 foot 1 inch hurler took his first pro win over Vancouver. Yakima Manager Dario Lodigiani said of Donley: "Chuck will be a good pitcher in a couple of years—good enough for PCL ball, I mean. He has a sneaky fast one, fair control, and a good curve. Plenty of savvy too."

Annual PAL Relays On Today At Jeff Track

All PAL schools, with the exception of Half Moon Bay, will enter men in the ten track events.

Jeff cinder coach Ernie Ribera says his charges have been working into shape in past weeks. The Indians' best bet to cop a first is their varsity relay team of Wayne Webb, Del Hammond, Al Schenone and Len Monson. The quartet turned in a fast 3:36 race Monday.

Jefferson's entries in the ten events, in the order in which they will run, include:

Shuddle hurdles, Class A—Paul Bollinger, Del Hamann, John Daniels and Ronnie Harris.

440, Class C—Jerry Nix, Richard Smith, Lowell Klaisner and Duane Hale.

440, Class B—no entry.

440, Class A — Wayne Webb, Ronnie Harris, Jerry Yarborough and Gary Deal.

LOCAL CAGERS LEFT OUT IN COLD AS BRISBANE COPS BOTH LEAGUES

Both the Brisbane teams won their division titles in the Recreation department basketball league. The Brisbane A team won the A division title with a 5-1 record and the Brisbane B's won their division with an undefeated 6-0 record.

The Brisbane A's swept to their final league victory by defeating the OLPH's 41-10. Roy Vuillemainroy led the Brisbane scoring parade with 16 points. Gary Martinelli led the boys from OLPH with 4 points.

This Bribane B's completed their season by defeating the OLPH B's 38-10 and remained the only undefeated team in either league.

The Bayshore A team defeated the Colma A's 38 to 24 despite a tremendous 18 point effort by Colma's George Rocchi. Bob Nix and Roy Hinterman scored 9 and 15 points respectively to offset Rocchi's scoring spree.

The Bayshore B's defeated the Colma B's 14-9. Lou Suba scored 8 points to lead the way to victory.

Next week the two champions from Brisbane will meet ALL-STAR teams chosen from the other teams in the league.

All teams will be coached by Jefferson Varsity basketball regulars and should provide an interesting series of games.

Linhares Advances In SF Tourney

One local golfer remained in contention in the championship flight of the San Francisco city golf tournament while another was eliminated in last weekend's play.

Art Linhares, after going all the way to the 19th hole to defeat Grant Spaeth on Saturday, downed Loyd Rossi, 4 and 3, in Sunday's play.

Bob Silvestri, defending champion, bested Dick Richards, 4 and 3, in Saturday's competition, but suffered defeat Sunday at the hands of Morgan Borofsky, 3 and 2.

JEFFS ENTER TOURNEY OF CHAMPS THURSDAY

Jefferson's varsity basketball champs will meet Oakland Technical high school Thursday at Berkeley in the opening game of the Tournament of Champions.

The rampaging Indians, who captured the PAL crown Tuesday night by downing Lincoln of San Jose, meet the Oakland Athletic league winners at 4:30 o'clock.

The tournament will feature champions from six other prep leagues.

The PAL championship, claimed after ten straight league victories, no defeats, was the first in Coach Mike Orlich's coaching career and the first in Jefferson's history.

News From The Parks

Marchbanks baseball diamond is the scene of frantic activity these days as the children of the Elementary schools begin practice for the coming Daly City Recreation Hardball League. Perpetual Help already has a team organized led by Gary Martinelli and Dick Nunez. Other squads are sure to follow.

The highlight for the past week with the younger children has been story-telling with the director Lorraine Cady. Bobby and Cathy Rankin, and Diane Puccini have been regular listeners. Some of the stories the boys and girls heard were "Anna, the Horse," "Nils" and "The Kangaroo Twins." Storytelling is going to be featured every day at Marchbanks on the middle level.

Other features have been tumbling and stunts on the lawn and varieties of the common game of tag.

Lincoln Playground

This week at Lincoln Park participants in the forthcoming football pentathalon were busy brushing up on primary football skills of passing, and kicking for accuracy and distance. In the junior division David Mattson, Ronald Sanders, Bob Bell, Billy Kkinoo and Gene Hartje are rated top contenders.

In the senior division the boys are busy preparing for the Lincoln Park basketball free throw championship to be held on March 14, 1953. Among the championship contenders are Ray Marchi, Rich McArdle, Tony Bautistae and Gene Petioni.

Westlake

The first inter-playground league game was played last Tuesday with the Indians coming out on top against the Bean Poles 22-13. The Indians were sparked by Steve Bianchi with 10 points.

Edgewood Playground

Since the color crayons and books have arrived, the children at Edgewood have become quite enthusiastic about coloring. Susan Green and Tina Enburg were two of the first to have their pictures placed on the wall. Donny Bridges, Janice Pope and Jimmy Reeder are others who like to color daily. Jimmy makes cowboy pictures come to life through the use of his vivid colors. Roger Stahl, John O'Keefe are seen playing takeaway. Jay Frazier has become a darn good player when it comes to sinking hook shots. John Sullivan is a very good guard.

Pacific Sport Fishing

Sport fishing in the Pacific ocean off California in 1952 was the best in years, especially for albacore, salmon and yellowtail, State Department of Fish and Game records reveal.

Albacore landings more than doubled the 1951 catch and set an all-time catch record of nearly 175,000 fish; salmon anglers took more than 80,000 to best the 1951 all-time high of 72,000 and barracuda anglers landed 320,000—greatest number since 1949.

The 1952 season showed an increase of 76 per cent over fish landed during the 1946 season, with a 152 per cent increase in the number of angler days spent on party boats.

"Yellowtail fishing was excellent from April through July, with a peak in May. The albacore season was short, compared to 1950-51 but led all species in numbers caught during August—while September fizzled out completely," commented department marine biologist Parke H. Young.

"Barracuda fishing—at its best since 1949—could have been outstanding if albacore angling hadn't pulled so many boats from the barracuda fleet," he added.

Kelp bass furnished the longest fishing season, April through October, with more than a half million taken, but less than the 781,000 landed in 1951.

"The total 1952 ocean bass catch was down, and we are happy to see it," Young said. "The good fishing for other species gave the bass fishery a much deserved rest.

"Aside from the usual sport-

THE OUTDOORS

fishing, 1952 offered anglers the chance to hook up with blue sharks that were abundant in the albacore schools, and several boats reported landing marlin on live bait. This is deep sea fishing at its best!"

Department tabulations for the year, compiled from catch reports of more than 300 California party boat skippers, gave these totals for last year's efforts:

More than two million fish were landed in a total of 538,000 angler days invested. The species in the total bag included 511,000 kelp or sand bass, 671,000 rockfish, 75,000 white croakers, 32,000 California halibut, 33,000 flatfish, 68,000 Pacific mackerel, 40,000 white sea bass, 37,000 sculpin, 16,000 lingcod, 15,000 sheephead, 10,000 cabezone, 7,000 bonito and 35,000 fish of other species, department records show.

Game Wardens Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Twenty-eight reserve fish and game wardens in the San Francisco region travelled more than 26,000 miles and worked 6,300 patrol hours with regular state wardens during 1952, according to E. L. Macaulay, Wildlife Protection Chief, California Department of Fish and Game.

"This volunteer travel and patrol work didn't cost the state a cent—and helped our regular wardens immeasurably," Macaulay commented.

"The 28 active members of the San Francisco Reserve Patrol, like the other fish and game reserve patrols elsewhere in California, furnish everything — uniforms, their own cars and time—and contribute their effort to the conservation cause without expecting remuneration of any kind," he explained.

Reserve wardens, who work on their own time under assignment with regular wardens, must pass rigorous screening to qualify, then attend a weekly three-hour class for ten weeks and finally pass a written examination before being accepted.

Once they've passed all qualifications, they're given the same authority as regular wardens to enforce provisions of the Fish and Game Code.

Sportsman's Calendar

The Department of Fish and Game reminds California sportsmen of the following general regulations which apply to current hunting and fishing:

OCEAN FISH — No closed season for tuna, yellowfin, marlin, broadbill swordfish, black sea bass, barracuda, white sea bass, bonito, rock bass, sand bass, kelp bass, halibut, corbina, croaker, lingcod and cabezone. Bag limits: 15 in aggregate, but not more than 10 of any one of other species listed above, nor more than 2 marlin, swordfish or black sea bass.

Tag Catfish

ANTIOCH — A Department of Fish and Game team, working with Dingell-Johnson Federal aid funds, placed plastic tags on a total of 780 white catfish during January in waters of the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta.

Two hundred and eighty of the fish were caught, tagged and released in the San Joaquin river near Antioch, and 500 were liberated in Cache Slough, near Rio Vista.

In returning the tags from fish they have caught, anglers are eligible for cash and merchandise prizes awarded by the Foothill Sportsmen's Club of Oakland.

Silva President

SAN FRANCISCO — Commissioner William J. Silva was again elected president of the five-man California Fish and Game Commission at the conclusion of its last meeting. He will preside at the March 27 meeting in Los Angeles.

The Modesto businessman and sportsman succeeds former Commissioner Paul Denny as president. It is Silva's second term as head of the group.

Weldon L. Oxley, Redding businessman ,will make his debut as a commissioner at the March meeting. He was named this month by Governor Earl Warren to succeed Commissioner Denny, whose six-year term expired January 15.

Ask That Voters Be Given Better Notice Of School Elections

Suggestion that all voters be given adequate notice of school elections was made to the Jefferson elementary school district board of trustees last Thursday by a member of the audience.

The woman, who did not give her name, said that voters should receive a sample ballot and also directions as to where their polling place is.

Helen Cheatham, member of the board, recommended that the board study this matter with the idea of notifying the public properly of further coming elections.

The board also read a letter from the district attorney stating that expenditures for Chamber of Commerce membership would not be permissable.

In other action, the board:

1. Referred a representative of the Fuchsia society to the community center. His request was that the society might use the Westlake school for their monthly meetings. The board informed him that the furniture at the school would only accommodate small children.

2. Signed inter-district agreements.

3. Heard a report from Fred Schweickhardt on the county meeting for state funds.

4. Passed a motion to transfer $800.92 from the Ben Franklin school building project to the Garden Village primary school.

5. Read a letter from James Mason, recreation director, stating that the district has permission to use the community center for graduation and a May Day festival.

Chairman Names Red Cross Workers For Colma District

Mrs. Margaret Pauline Brown, chairman, and Mrs. Alan Mori, co-chairman, of the Colma district of the American Red Cross, have announced that they have a "fine group" of 1953 fund workers in the Colma area.

Captains of the districts are as follows: Mrs. John Bergstresser, Garden Village; Mrs. Edward A. Macklin, Broadmoor; Mrs. Louise Brent, Colma incorporated; Mrs. Jean Sunderman, Colma unincorporated; Mary Belli, Colma district; Mrs. Maryan Patey and Mrs. Helene Mori, Colma business district.

Mrs. Brown said there are a number of blocks east of Mission street and south of Market where they have been unable to secure workers.

However, next week a complete list of workers will be released, so that persons desiring to contribute may do so through them, she said.

Mrs. Mori will take over the chairmanship of the drive in Colma after next week, after Mrs. Brown leaves for a month's trip to the south.

Marriages In County Take Marked Upswing

Marriages in the county were again on the upswing for the month of February, according to the county recorder's office.

There were a total of 124 marriages for the month, as compared with 11 for the same period the previous year.

Number of papers handled in February by the county office were 5974, higher than the 5290 handled during that month in 1952.

Jefferson Elementary Teachers Honor National Teachers Federation President

Carl C. Megal, president of the National Federation of Teachers, today voiced vigorous approval of schoolboard member Joseph L. Alioto's support for increased salaries for teachers. Alioto recommended a teachers' salary schedule of $4,000 minimum and $10,000 maximum.

Several teachers from the Jefferson elementary schools were among the many Bay Area groups which honored Mr. Megal's visit to California at a Sunday breakfast held in his honor at the Cliff House.

In a statement to San Francisco newspapers, Megal said: "Mr. Alioto's recommendation is long overdue. In my travels across the nation, visiting hundreds of schools, talking to teachers, admiinstrators, and schoolboards, I am alarmed by the crisis facing public education in America. For the past 20 years we have allowed our schools to deteriorate so that today we have old dilapidated buildings, overcrowded classrooms, and underpaid teachers.

Teachers Work Outside

"Over 60 per of America's teachers work at some outside job in order to secure sufficient funds to make a living at today's inflated prices. A teacher who made $3,000 in 1939 needs $6,700 in order to buy the same goods.

"The removal of price and rent controls and the reduction of stock market margin from 75 per cent to 50 per cent will mean a further inflation of prices with a subsequent decrease in purchasing power. During the past ten years, 350,000 well qualfied teachers left the teaching profession to accept better paying jobs in industry. These ex-teachers are still available and many can be induced to return to the teaching profession if they are offered a decent living wage. This would relieve the present teacher shortage."

Inequity In Salary

Megal also said the board of education member, Mrs. Clarence Coonan, must have been mistaken when she said: "I went abroad last summer and I saw thousands, no, millions, of teachers over there."

Since there are only one million teachers in all of America's schools, Mrs. Coonan could not have seen millions, Megal said. He further stated that most of America's teachers must work at some job during the summer in order to live, at least during those summers when they are not obligated to attend summer schools.

He commented on the far greater increases in salary obtained by industrial workers over and above those granted teachers, and this despite the long years of expensive college training required for teachers.

The Jefferson elementary teachers were urged by Megal to take an active part in all community affairs, to keep themselves well informed, to work closely with citizen groups, and to use their influence for the betterment of all phases of education.

Mrs. Jane Brown, president of A.F.T. Local 1164, recently formed in the Jefferson school district, and Mr. Cecil Mitchell, President of the Classroom Tteachers' Association, advised Megal of the appointment of a joint committee composed of both groups toward just that end. Megal complimented them on their worthy united action and cautioned against "disunity and apathy among teachers in the light of the insidious and concentrated attack on education by groups who would promote their own selfish interests at the expense of America's boys and girls."

"The American Federation believes that America's boys and girls in this atomic age require the finest and best teachers available; that you cannot have good schools without good teachers, and that you cannot secure and hold good teachers without an adequate living wage."

Mrs. Edna E. Jensen of Colma, wife of the manager of Olivet Memorial park cemetery, is the deputy foreman of the new jury.

Six other San Mateo county residents were named to the jury.

U. S. Judge Edward P. Murphy, in impaneling the members, urged them to observe strict rules of secrecy.

Judge Murphy, in explaining powers of the jury, declared:

"Someone, somewhere, sometime said that a grand jury may meet in a night club and attend cocktail parties in the home of a prosecutor. This will not occur while I'm handling the jury."

He was referring to a grand jury of several years ago that drew censure when several of its members met privately with Charles O'Gara then an assistant U. S. Attorney, in his home and in a down-town suite.

Note For Gardeners

Petunias Said To Be Least Demanding Plant; Will Thrive Bountifully In Poor Soil

Petunias are one of the least demanding annuals you can plant. Even in the poorest kind of soil, and the hottest possible location, they will grow and bloom freely. And given the encouragement of good soil in a flower bed, box or pot, they will respond with breathtaking beauty.

Hybridizers have greatly glamorized the fragrant flowers since the first Petunias were discovered nearly a hundred years ago in Uruguay. Today, while the chaste single flowers, which resemble small morning glories, are still popular, there are also far fancier types. In some single-flowered varieties the petals are gracefully waved or ruffled, in others they are even more frilly. There also are various varieties with magnificent fully double flowers which look somewhat like African Marigolds or Double Hibiscus.

Today's hybrid plants show improvements as striking as those in the flowers. They now range all the way from lusty growers that trail out three feet or so to compact dwarfs, under a foot tall, which still bear huge 4" to 5" blooms and are perfect for potting.

Plants of both dwarf and giant varieties, with single, ruffled or fully double blooms, now are generaly available in flats according to the Bedding Plant Advisory Board. The colors usually offered are purple, rose, white, salmon, red and blue, with many delightful combinations of them. Because the tiny seeds are hard to handle, flat size plants are especially popular. Set them out about 12" apart in beds now, or in pots or window boxes; they will bloom in about 8 weeks and continue to provide long-lasting flowers all through the summer.
